

Full stops

Things to remember:

- Full stops are a way of marking the end of a sentence.
- Full stops are always followed by capital letters.
- You should always put a full stop at the end of a complete statement.
- When you're reading out loud, a full stop is where you can take a breath.